About Indiana Historical Society Press

With more than a century of experience, the Indiana Historical Society Press publishes books—from biographies to academic titles, such as the History of Indiana series, to beautiful coffee-table books, such as Mapping Indiana: Five Centuries of Treasures from the Indiana Historical Society. The Press also publishes historical fiction for children, youth biographies, and family history books. Educator resources are also available for many of the youth titles.

About Indiana Historical Society

Since 1830, the Indiana Historical Society has been Indiana's Storyteller™, connecting people to the past by collecting, preserving and sharing the state's history. A private, nonprofit membership organization, IHS maintains the nation's premier research library and archives on the history of Indiana and the Old Northwest and presents a unique set of visitor experiences called the Indiana Experience. IHS also provides support and assistance to local museums and historical groups; publishes books and periodicals; sponsors teacher workshops; produces and hosts art exhibitions, museum theater and outside performance groups; and provides youth, adult, and family programs. IHS is a Smithsonian Affiliate and a member of the International Coalition of Sites of Conscience.

Yours: The Civil War, a Love Triangle and the Steamboat Sultana

LILA JEANNE ELLIOTT SYBESMA

Sarah Sutton and the Elliott brothers, Gabe and Joseph, grew up together. The brothers vie for Sarah's attention. But the Civil War intervenes, and the brothers enlist in the Union army. Sarah accompanies her father, an army surgeon, and serves as a nurse in battlefield hospitals.

They reunite on the Sultana, a steamboat returning thousands of soldiers home. Tragedy strikes when the boat explodes and sinks in the Mississippi River. What will happen next?

Lila Jeanne Elliott Sybesma based Yours on the 1913 Indiana Historical Society publication The Sultana Disaster, written by her great-granduncle Joseph Taylor Elliott, a survivor of the 1865 disaster in which almost 2,000 soldiers and civilians perished.

Pickin' Cotton on the way to Church The Life and Work of Father Boniface Hardin, OSB

NANCY VAN NOTE CHISM

Father Boniface Hardin intended to call his autobiography Pickin' Cotton on the way to Church, referring to his experience as an African American Catholic. This biography uses his title to honor his memory.

Excluded from seminaries in Kentucky because of his race, he enrolled in Saint Meinrad Seminary in Spencer County, Indiana. After Hardin completed his studies, he took his vows as a monk and was ordained a priest in 1959. In 1965 Father Hardin accepted the position of associate pastor at Holy Angels Catholic Church, a predominately Black parish in Indianapolis. He became widely known for speaking out against poverty, segregation, and police brutality, engaging in social activism that was considered inappropriate for a priest. He went on to found the Martin Center and Martin University.

Nancy Van Note Chism moved to Indiana in 1999. She was a professor of higher education and student affairs at Indiana University and associate vice chancellor for academic affairs at IUPUI. She retired in 2012 and currently is chair of the board of trustees of Martin University.

Gentleman in the Shadows: Benjamin C. Evans Jr. and the Central Intelligence Agency

DOUGLAS A. WISSING

Benjamin C. Evans Jr., was a Central Intelligence Agency executive who operated at the top levels of the U.S. intelligence community during the darkest days of the Cold War. His story starts in Crawfordsville, Indiana. Author Douglas Wissing follows him through West Point, World War II, and his marriage to Jan King, part of the old Washington, D.C., aristocracy.

Douglas A. Wissing is an award-winning journalist and author of numerous books, including IN Writing: Uncovering the Unexpected Hoosier State and Crown Hill: History, Spirit, Sanctuary. He has written for the New York Times, Washington Post, Los Angeles Times, CNN.com, Fox.com, Salon.com, and Time.com, among other publications.

"We Must Be Fearless" The Womans Suffrage Movement in Indiana

ANITA MORGAN

This popular history of the womans suffrage movement in Indiana tells the story of the sixty-nine-year struggle for the right to vote in the state. The people who acted, what they did, and the results of their efforts are the focus. Through this story, it also places the state's women more firmly in the history of Indiana, the Midwest, and the nation.

A Heart Divided: A Shaker Teen During the Civil War

ELIZABETH O'MALEY

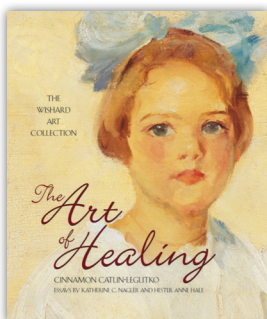

A Heart Divided is the story of Anna Stewart, who was raised by Shakers in Pleasant Hill, Kentucky, after being orphaned at age eight. At sixteen, she is restless, pushing the boundaries of her cloistered life. Then, during the Civil War Battle of Perryville, more than one thousand Union and Confederate soldiers come through her village, and she meets James Cunningham, a young soldier who was a neighbor and playmate in her past. Anna and James talk and become close, even though it is forbidden by her Shaker religion. Anna's growing feelings for James, as well as her desire to see her siblings and go where she wants to go, unsettle her mind and soul. While feeding armies and caring for wounded soldiers, Anna must decide if she will stay with her Shaker family or live her life in the world outside Pleasant Hill.

Elizabeth O'Maley (1947–2014) was a school psychologist in Ohio, Kentucky, and Indiana before authoring three books of historical fiction for students grades 4 through 12, published by the Indiana Historical Society Press. O'Maley also wrote a book for her grandchildren, The World of Grace O'Malley: Irish Mistress of the Seas (AuthorHouse, 2015), about their possible ancestor.
