HISTORICAL SKETCH

The Indianapolis Bar Association was founded on 30 November 1878 at the law offices of John T. Dye and Addison C. Harris. Included among the forty original members were Benjamin Harrison, the twenty-third President of the United States, and Charles W. Fairbanks, who later served as United States Vice President under Theodore Roosevelt. Napoleon B. Taylor served as the organization's first president, John A. Henry was secretary, and John M. Judah was treasurer.

One of the association's chief functions is the maintenance of a library. A library committee was formed within the IBA's first year of existence and officially established a library in 1880. By 1910 there were 7,000 volumes available for use by judges, attorneys, and students of the Indiana Law School, with that number jumping to over 8,000 in 1915.

The association has been active in obtaining reforms in court procedures such as the appeals procedure, judge's salaries, non-partisan selection of judges, and reducing court costs. In addition the organization formed a grievance committee that oversaw not only the conduct of its members, but all attorneys and judges in the city as well, and an increase in the standards of legal education and the procedure of admitting new members to the bar.

Over the years the IBA has hosted social events, meetings, lectures, and continuing education opportunities. In 1921, African-American lawyers, excluded from the IBA, established the Marion County Lawyers Club; the IBA began accepting African-American lawyers in 1953.

The Indianapolis Bar Association has been located in the Loew's Theater building at 33 North Pennsylvania Street (in 1955) and the Indiana National Bank Building at 211 North Pennsylvania Street. It is now located in the BMO Plaza building at 135 North Pennsylvania Street and currently claims around 4,500 members. The organization continues "to serve [its] members, promote justice, and enhance the legal profession".

Significant members have included: Judge Sarah Evans Barker, Gerald Bepko, Julia Carson, Harriette Bailey Conn, Thomas J. Faulconer III, Judge John Paul Godich, Andrew Jacobs Jr., Virginia Dill McCarty, Robert H. McKinney, Judge V. Sue Shields, and Judge John Daniel Tinder.
