BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH

Adolph Robert Shulz, born June 12, 1869, was the son of August and Augusta Shulz of Delavan, Wisconsin. He began sketching as a child while on hikes in the woods with his father. He entered the Art Institute of Chicago beginning in 1889 and also studied at the Art Students League in New York. During the summer of 1892 he met the Terre Haute-born, twenty-something Ada Walter in an art class back in Delavan. The Walter-Shulz friendship led to their marriage in the home of Adolph's parents two years later. Within two weeks they sailed for Paris where Adolph settled down at the Académie Julien and Ada attended the Académie Vitti.

Following their time in Paris, the Shulz couple moved on to Munich where their son Walter was born (June 10, 1895) and Adolph studied at the Royal Academy of Munich. Upon their return to the States in October 1895, they took up housekeeping in Delavan where Adolph resumed his painting and the two of them planted the first Christian Science Church in the community. Ada devoted herself to raising their son and became known for her impressionistic paintings of mothers and children.

About the year 1900 Adolph read an article in a Chicago newspaper which called attention to the natural beauty of Brown County, Indiana. He soon caught a train for Indiana and toured the county and was awe-struck by the beauty. Adolph, Ada and son Walter for the next several years spent summers there painting while residing in Nashville's Pittman Inn. In 1916 or 1917 the family moved permanently to Nashville. Ada founded the Brown County Art Association of which both became charter members and their pioneer efforts blazed a trail for others to at least visit—and some to settle—the area.

Young Walter was developing into an artist in his own right and began exhibiting his works, along with his parents. In May, 1917, Walter left with friends on a camping trip; he left the group and entrained to Chicago where he enlisted in the army. He was soon in Europe where he survived World War I, only to contract diphtheria after the Armistice. He died on December 12, 1918. The grief-stricken Ada painted little from 1918 to 1920.

Adolph continued to paint and took up teaching in his studio. One student was Alberta Rehm, a single mother, born in Indianapolis and 20-plus years Adolph's junior. In Nashville her art interests morphed into amorous interests, so that in time Adolph and Ada, divorced in May, 1926. Two years after their divorce the nationally acclaimed artist Ada Shulz died, after a two-month illness. Following a memorial service held at her home, her ashes were shipped to Delavan where they were buried next to her son's grave. Adolph and Alberta married soon after the divorce. They raised Alberta's daughter Emilie who, unhappily, developed severe emotional problems—perhaps schizophrenia—necessitating her parents' institutionalizing her when she was an adult.

In 1934, in the midst of the Depression, Adolph assumed a short-term teaching position at the Ringling School of Art in Sarasota, Florida and in his later years taught at the John Herron Art Institute in Indianapolis.

Adolph Shulz, “The Dean of Brown County Artists” died on Thursday, January 24, 1963, at age 93. Memorial services for him were held on February 3 at Nashville’s Masonic Temple of which he had been a member for over 50 years. Burial followed in Indianapolis’ Washington Park East Cemetery.

To both Adolph and Ada Shulz, as well as to the other early cadre of artists, Indiana and the art world owe a vote of gratitude, for rather than drifting to large cities, they came to rural Indiana.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The scrapbook was created by Adolph R. Shulz and is a rare collection of sketches and personal notes with historical significance to the artist. It spans his work from Wisconsin to Brown County to Florida and contains approximately 140 sketches, plus newspaper articles, and photographs relating to his work and personal life.

The small pencil sketches by Shulz are directly related to his paintings. Accompanying most of his sketches are handwritten notes by him that describe each painting, with size, dates, titles, locations, where and when it was exhibited, and the price and purchaser. He sometimes provides a newspaper clipping or photograph to illustrate a painting. Most pages are filled front and back.

After Adolph's death in 1963, problems emerged between his widow Alberta and some of their housekeepers after the disappearance of unsold paintings. These thefts are noted in the scrapbook written in pen in a different hand from Adolph's. It is assumed that it was his wife or an assistant who continued to make notes.

The scrapbook was originally housed in a loose-leaf binder. The pages were removed from the binder for preservation and were numbered by the processor to maintain original order. The numbers are enclosed in square brackets [] at the bottom of each page. Shulz's notes from the scrapbook have been transcribed in the collection guide. Additional comments added by the processor are in square brackets.

The scrapbook came from Martha Hinkle Mosier close friend and student of Shulz, and artist in her own right. Her photograph appears in the scrapbook.

Notations: This view of our old studio built 1917 with Ada’s painting of children also my painting Misty Moonlight and the only photo of “The Monarch” & one of Salt Creek owned by Nora Bond.

“Monarch” The subject of this painting grew within the limits of Nashville on the hill east of the pioneer Cemetery on Jacksons Branch. This beautiful [sic] tree was cut down many years ago and was left to rot where it fell. I saw in this subject the opportunity to go all out in painting a dignified poetic interpretation of the essence and Majesty [sic] of this noble and one of the last of the forest Primeval.
