BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH

Julia Hottel Strain was born February 7, 1921 to Mary Mabel Hottel and Dell Strain at their home: 206 S. Mill St., Salem, Indiana. She was the fourth child after Emma Maydell, Rebecca Elizabeth, and Arthur Dell. A younger brother Frank D. was born nine years later.

She graduated from Salem High School where she was president of the Senior Dramatic Club. She was active in the drama and youth group at Salem First Christian Church. After High School she attended Indiana University. Before graduating from Indiana University in Bloomington in 1943, (A.B. Speech and Teaching) she was tapped into Mortar Board, in 1942 and named Outstanding Actress of the Year, 1942-43, for her leading role in "The Eve of St. Mark." As a freshman she worked in the Union Hall cafeteria. The last three years she worked in the Religious Work Shop under the direction of Dr. Frank O. Beck, who later gave the Beck Chapel to the University. She also served as President of the college youth group at First Christian Church in Bloomington. She then attended Yale University. She was granted a scholarship from the Yale University Divinity School. She attended three years, graduating with an M.A. in 1946. Her field work included youth work at Whitneyville Congregational Church for two years and one year teaching at a private Prospect Hill School for girls. She was ordained June 23, 1946 at Salem.

From 1946-1951, she served as Minister of Education at Heights Christian Church, Shaker Heights, Ohio. On December 20, 1950 she married Robert A. Fangmeier and moved to the Washington D.C. area where she served as Minister of Education at Bethesda First Baptist Church from 1951-1953. She then moved to Cleveland, Ohio in December 1953 when her husband became Managing Editor of Church Management Magazine. January thru November, 1955 Julia taught Jr. High English, dramatics and modern dance at John Marshall Junior High.

Active in community and church affairs, Julia Strain Fangmeier's activities with Church Women United in Race Relations and as their lobbyist in 1963 in the Indiana General Assembly, which eventually led to her employment in 1967 with the Indiana Civil Rights Commission. Over the years some areas of responsibility included being head of Affirmative Action, Compliance, Supervisor of Investigators, Case Control, Liaison with both the Advisory Committee of Sex Discrimination, Education, and Public Relations.
