BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH

The Mugg family of Owen County and the Rhea family of Morgan County, Indiana, united with the marriage of Nancy Jane Mugg and John L. Rhea in December 1868. Surnames of descendants and extended family include DeVore, Landrum, Mannan, Mason, Walters, and Cunningham.

The Mugg Family

Nancy Jane Mugg was born in Owen County, Indiana, on 15 August 1849 to Kentucky natives Elder John Mugg (1800–1867) and his second wife, Fanny Fiddler Mugg. Her father was born 16 March 1800 to John and Rebecca Truex Mugg. He was a Baptist minister, listed as a clergyman at the time of the 1850 census. In the 1860 census he is listed as a farmer. Elder John Mugg's first wife was Parmelia "Milly" (or "Millie") Milton (1802–1848), and his children by her included John Milton (1824–1903), Richard (1830–1893), Martha J. (Whitaker) (1838–1906), Emily (Walters) (1841–1925), and William Riley Mugg.

Elder John Mugg married Fanny Fiddler in October 1848 in Martinsville, Morgan County. In addition to Nancy Jane, they had at least three other children together: Benjamin Franklin (1852–1938), Mary Frances (DeVore) (1854–1940), and Adoniram Judson Mugg (1860–1941). After Elder John's death, Fanny married William Davis (1820–1907) in January 1875 in Owen County. Fanny lived to be 100 years old (18 August 1825–25 October 1925). It appears that Fanny's mother's maiden name may have been Cunningham.

Nancy J.'s half-brothers, Richard and William Mugg, married sisters Elizabeth and Clarinda Surber. The sisters were daughters of Isaac Adam Surber (1801–1853) and Artemisia Mayfield Surber (1804–1863), who lived in Owen County. One of their other daughters, Mary (1832–1891), married Joel Ogles (1833–1908) of Morgan County.

Richard Mugg was born 5 February 1830. He married Elizabeth Surber (1830–1883) in October 1851 in Owen County. Their children included ten sons and a daughter: Jeremiah E. (1852–1911), Joseph Thomas (1854–1924), Isaac Newton (1857–1921), John H. (1859–1924), George D. McClellan (1861–1911), James N. (died as an infant in 1864), Riley Morton (1864–1946), Belle V. (Morris) (1867–1898), Benjamin Franklin (1869–1960), Charles Surber (1872–1931), and Henry Mayfield (1875–1939). Richard was a farmer in Owen County throughout his life. He died on 13 July 1893.

William Riley Mugg was born 8 March 1845. He married Clarinda Surber (1844–1926) in December 1863 in Owen County. Their three children were Jarvis (1864–1866), Mandiza (1867–1872), and Mary Maude (1874–1965). He was a farmer in Owen County, but moved to Indianapolis by 1910, where he was the proprietor of a grocery store. He later worked as an elevator operator for G. and J. Tire Co. William died 11 December 1917 in Indianapolis, and was buried in Quincy, Owen County, Indiana.

Mary Maude Mugg was born 17 January 1874 in Gosport, Owen County. After joining her parents in Indianapolis, she worked for various employers as an office assistant, typist, bookkeeper, and secretary. She died on 25 April 1965 in Indianapolis and was buried in Quincy.

Nancy J.'s half-sister, Emily "Emma" Mugg, was born 7 September 1841. She married Columbus Walters (1834–1876) in September 1858 in Owen County. They had a daughter, Katherine "Kate" Walters (Stuckey) (1859–1936). Emma Walters died in Gosport on 4 February 1925.

Nancy J.'s brother, Benjamin Franklin Mugg, was born 11 January 1852 in Owen County. He married Martha "Mattie" L. Gillaspay in 1879. He was listed as a farmer in the 1880 and 1900 censuses; as a minister in 1910; as an express messenger for the railroad in 1920; and again as a farmer in 1930. Their children included Georgia (1880–1882), Edythe D. (Patrick) (1884–1908), Edna V. (Walters) (1885–1974), and Ernest LeRoy (1889–1970). Benjamin died 3 May 1938 in Quincy.

Nancy J.'s sister, Mary Frances Mugg, was born 13 May 1854 in Owen County. In December 1875 she married Joseph Preston DeVore (1854-1929). Their children included: Teresa "Tressie," Mildred, Florence "Flossie," Burch (1888–1890), and Geraldine (born ca. 1902). Sometime between 1900 and 1910 the family moved from Owen County to Marion County. Mary died 26 February 1940 in Indianapolis.

Teresa "Tressie" DeVore was born 9 November 1876 in Owen County. There she married Charles "Charley" Campbell Davis (1874–1948) in October 1906. Teresa died 28 January 1911 in Indianapolis.

Mildred DeVore was born 16 April 1882 or 1883 in Owen County. She married Jefferson "Jeff" Cassel (1877–1966) in July 1904 in Quincy. They had a daughter, Winifred DeVore Cassel (Gillett) (1908–1985). Mildred died on 9 December 1917 in Indianapolis of septicemia during pregnancy. In the 1920 census, Jeff and Winifred are shown living with Mildred's parents and her sister Flossie.

Florence "Flossie" DeVore was born 5 August 1885 in Owen County. She married Herbert Trask (1882-1963) in December 1925. Herbert was the proprietor of a jewelry store in Indianapolis. Living with Herbert and Flossie at the time of the 1930 census were Flossie's widowed mother and niece Winifred. Flossie died on 9 October 1960 in Indianapolis.

Nancy J. Mugg's brother, Adoniram Judson (A.J.) Mugg, was born 6 July 1860 in Owen County. He married Permelia A. "Anna" Myers (1863–1890) in September 1882. They had a son, Ivan (1886–1892). In September 1893 he married Amanda Sadie Lambert (1866–1944). Their children included Irvin (1894–1899), Eunice (Holley) (1895–1979), and Ruby (born 1899). In the 1900 and 1910 censuses, A.J. Mugg is listed as a farmer. In 1914 he was appointed postmaster in Quincy, Indiana. The 1920 census shows that he still held that post at that time. In the 1930 census he is listed as a farmer again. He died on 22 February 1941 in Owen County.

The Rhea Family

John L. Rhea was born 15 February 1837 in Virginia to George G. Rhea (1800–1864) and Dorcas (sometimes spelled Darcus) Lowrey Rhea (1802–1855). Joseph Walker Rhea was born 28 December 1825 in Virginia. His first wife was Sirintha Ann [O'Dear?] (1832–1864). They had two sons, George (1853–1917) and James I. (1856–1924), and a daughter, Flora Bell Rhea (Ryan) (1858–1929). Sirintha and infant died in 1864 and were buried in Cloverdale, Indiana. James Lowrey Rhea was born 17 July 1833 in Virginia. He was a farmer in Johnson County, who appears to have changed the spelling of his last name to Ray. With his first wife, Perlina Buckner (1837–1864), his children included Laura Jane (Covert) (1856–1910), Margaret A. (Bridges) (1857–1931), George Washington (1860–1929), and Perlina (1864–1865). Their children included William Edward "Eddie" (1865–1936), James Robert (1867–1944), and Bert (1872–1874). She died in Martinsville on 11 December 1899.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

This collection consists primarily of photographs of the extended families and descendants of Nancy Jane Mugg of Owen County and her husband, John L. Rhea, of Morgan County, Indiana. Other surnames of relatives whose portraits are in this collection include DeVore, Landrum, Mannan, Mason, Walters, Ogles, and Cunningham.

This collection comes from two different accessions. The largest one was 2000.0484, which was a photograph album that had belonged to Nancy Jane Mugg Rhea. The album was in poor condition, so the photographs were removed from it, along with a few items of ephemera that had been inserted between pages of the album. The most noteworthy item of ephemera is a letter from John and Nancy's daughter, Nettie Mannan, to her sister Kate, written in 1894. The processor wrote the page numbers on the backs of the photographs to indicate the order in which they appeared in the album. However, this collection is not arranged in that order, but rather in family groupings. The order in which the photos appeared in the album did not seem to follow any chronological or other order.

The smaller accession, 2001.0839, included the two cased images of John L. Rhea and his first wife, Nancy A. Walters Rhea, a later cabinet card portrait of John, and one of the copies of the family posed outside their farmhouse.

The collection is arranged into five series:

Series 1: Mugg Family Photographs – This series is composed of Mugg, Walters, DeVore, Ogles, and Davis portraits.

Series 2: Rhea Family Photographs -- This series consists of portraits of John L. Rhea and his first wife, and John's siblings and their descendants, including members of the Landrum family.

Series 3: John L. Rhea and Nancy J. Mugg Rhea and Descendants – This series includes individual portraits of the couple and of their children – as well as John's daughter by his first wife – their grandchildren, and a son-in-law. This includes the Mannan and Mason families. A group portrait of the family posed outside their farmhouse in Eminence is also in this series.

Series 4: Unidentified Portraits – This series is composed of eight portraits that are either unidentified or only partially identified, including one of Mary Cunningham, who may be a relative of Fanny Fiddler Mugg Davis, the mother of Nancy Jane Mugg Rhea.

Series 5: Correspondence and Ephemera – This series consists of four items that were found inserted between the pages of Nancy J. Mugg Rhea's photograph album. They include a letter, two cards, and a poem clipped from a newspaper.
