BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH

Nicholas William Hatfield (1910–1981) was born in Indianapolis and attended Shortridge High School and Butler University. In 1935 he received his medical degree from Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia and served his internship at City Hospital in Indianapolis. Upon completing his internship, he practiced at his office at 2032 N. Rural Street. Hatfield and his wife, Vivian, had three children. In July, 1942, he enlisted in the U.S. Army where he was commissioned a Captain in the Medical Corps and was sent overseas in October, 1943, to Australia. Hatfield was assigned to a medical station with the 41st Division in New Guinea and the Philippines. Hatfield was awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action on Biak Island, New Guinea on 7 June 1944. Despite a severe leg injury, he remained behind caring for the wounded until all had been evacuated. In April, 1945, he was promoted to major and was discharged from the service in February, 1946. After the war, Hatfield returned to his medical practice in Indianapolis.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The bulk of the collection consists of correspondence from Nicholas Hatfield to his wife, Vivian while serving as a doctor in the U. S. Army during World War II, November, 1943–August, 1945 mostly while he was in the Pacific Theater. Most of the content regards his everyday activities and responses to events at home and with family. He also writes about his wound saying not to worry that it is not serious, and he is not in pain. There also are letters written by Vivian to Nicholas, March, 1944–April, 1945 regarding his family and everyday life in Indianapolis. Other letters include those from his mother, December, 1944–April, 1945, and other letters between Hatfield and friends and relatives, July, 1943–March, 1945. Non-personal correspondence includes letters from the War Department to Mrs. Hatfield regarding her husband's wounding and his recovery; Nicholas Hatfield's service records and his being awarded the Silver Star; correspondence and documents pertaining to his partial disability pension; and newspaper clippings mentioning Hatfield's military service.

Also contained are a significant number of photographs taken by Hatfield while in New Guinea, the Philippines, and Japan during the occupation as well as some official and family photographs of him and his wife. Artifacts include Hatfield's Silver Star and Purple Heart, military insignia, pins, buttons, ribbons, and a Japanese flag.
